Coming Events.

Association of trotting horse breeders, at David City, Oct. 13-16. Show in mountainous portions of France last week.

Silver ore of rich quality has been found at Newton, Conn.

Democrats of Ohio are beginning to concede that McKinley will be the next governor of that state.

The republican state convention was very harmonious, and it was the general opinion that the entire ticket will be elected by a plurality of ten thousand.

Saturday night at eleven o'clock, two distinct shocks of earthquake were felt at Burlington, Iowa; high buildings swayed to and fro for fully half a minute. No special damage done.

BRAD D. SLAUGHTER added considerable to his reputation as a convention general at the last meeting of the republicans of the state. Brad is smart, wide awake, and gamey.

An earthquake frightened the people of St. Louis Saturday night at 10:50 o'clock. People rushed out on the street in their night clothes. Some were jolted off of chairs. High buildings were shaken. The sensation lasted ten seconds.

MISS MABEL HEISTER, a young lady of 17 years residing in Council Bluffs, was burned to death on Tuesday afternoon, resulting from careless handling of gasolene. She undertook to refill stove from an open vessel containing the fluid; not turning off the burner, an explosion followed covering the victim with burning fluid. Miss Heister was a young lady of great beauty, and courted in social circles for her vivacity; and ending to a young life of promise.

A DISPATCH to the Chicago Tribune from Decatur, Ill., says: The Bellamy idea of the co-operative boarding house, which was established with great eclat in Decatur at "the Roby" in April, 1890, winked out today when the executive board of which Frank W. Anderson is president, and Mrs. Mary W. French is secretary, met and voted to discontinue the institution. Immediately the affairs of the association were closed up and "the Roby" became a regular boarding house.

An accident happened at Lincoln last week. Mrs. Johnson of Weeping Water was visiting some friends; when riding out in a buggy with her husband and Mr. Eggenhouse guests they were, the horse became frightened at a car, springing forward suddenly, threw Mrs. Johnson out of the buggy (she sitting alone in the back seat) falling on her head upon the hard pavement, causing concussion of the brain from which she died in a few hours. The men in their efforts to stop the frightened team, did not know that Mrs. Johnson had fallen out.

DESTRUCTIVE storms and hurricanes have been prevalent all along the English coast the past week. England, Scotland and Wales in many parts have been inundated. The rivers Tweed and Gala in Scotland were so swollen that they overflowed their banks, flooding the valleys for sixteen miles. In some localities the rain fell in torrents for thirty-six hours, accompanied with terrific thunder and violent winds. These continued rains and storms throughout the British Isles caused much slaughter and freshings of pinching hunger among the agricultural districts. The gloomy outlook is enhanced by the shutting down of many industries in the manufacturing towns, swelling to an alarming extent the number of unemployed artisans already driven to desperation.

The Tariff on Tin. Assuming that the tin purchasers pay all the duties, the workman would have to pay 1 1/2 cent more for his tin-plate dinner pail bought under the McKinley tariff than before, and the use of a can of tomatoes three-eighths of a cent more for the can. The truth is that the added price is paid by the manufacturer of the plate, or, if not wholly paid by him, it is shared by the home manufacturer of tin-plate ware, the workman, jobber and retailer. The workman's dinner pail costs him no more than before; neither does the can of vegetables or fruit used in his family. The McKinley tariff on tin-plate is designed to give employment to tens of thousands of American workmen, and it will not be long before American-made plate will be cheaper than the imported article ever was. (Cincinnati Commercial.)

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Our Own Post The Chief Candidate on the Ticket. Last Thursday, the state convention was held at Lincoln, in the Funks opera house. The convention was called together by the chairman of the republican central committee, Hon. John C. Watson, who made a ringing speech in favor of the party of freedom that has faithfully stood by the country, the trust and the noblest party in the land, represent the best patriotism, the purest principles and the most progressive ideas of any party in the land. A mention of the name of Blaine as probably the next candidate of the party for president was greeted by a tumult of applause.

The call for the convention was then read and the suggestion of the committee in regard to temporary organization approved, and George Thummet of Grand Island was introduced as temporary chairman, accepting the honor in a short speech. Secretary Beely was proceeding to read the list of delegates, when, as there were no contests, the further reading was dispensed with.

A committee on platform was appointed, consisting of John L. Webster, Omaha; C. H. Gere, Lincoln; R. S. Norval, Seward; J. L. Keck, Kearney; Ross L. Hammond, Fremont; W. W. Wilson, Chadron; J. S. Kirkpatrick, Broken Bow; W. E. Peebles, Pender; G. M. Humphrey, Pawnee City and John C. Watson, Nebraska City, who read their report, later along, and which was unanimously adopted.

Briefly summarized, the republicans of Nebraska congratulate President Harrison upon his eminently wise, loyal and courageous administration and declare absolute confidence in his integrity, ability and patriotism; they rejoice in the restoration of dignity, vigor and statesmanship in the conduct of our foreign affairs under the guiding hand of America's favorite son, James G. Blaine; they approve the silver coinage act of the present administration, by which the entire product of the silver mines of the United States is added to the currency of the people, but denounce the democratic doctrine of free and unlimited coinage of silver as a financial policy liable to precipitate the people of every and every state in the union in a prolonged and disastrous depression, and delay the revival of business enterprise and prosperity so ardently desired and now so apparently near.

The free and unlimited coinage of silver would tend to the hoarding of gold and to force the use of cheap money in payment of wages in every workshop, mill, factory, store and farm, and tend to the scaling down of the wages of the toilers and weakening the purchasing power of the dollar which would be used to purchase the products of the farmer. They are in favor of having every dollar as good as any other dollar; they endorse the policy of reciprocity, demand the regulation of all railway and transportation lines; favor legislation to prevent all illegal combinations and unjust exactions by aggregated capital and corporations; insist upon the suppression of trusts, combines and schemes designed to artificially increase the cost of life; they denounce the democratic party for its double dealing, a party controlled by aristocratic and sectional tendencies, the legacy of slavery.

After the adoption of the platform, the convention proceeded to the nomination of a supreme judge, nominating speeches being dispensed with, and the first ballot taken being informal, resulting in Beese..... 234 Cobb..... 139 Post..... 30 Harrison..... 30 Four formal ballots were taken, the result of which is given in this table. Judge Post being chosen on the last ballot.

Table with 4 columns: CANDIDATE, First, Second, Third, Fourth. Rows: Beese, Cobb, Post, Harrison.

From this table it will be seen that Beese's vote was largest on the 1st and Cobb on the 2d ballot, while Judge Post's increased from the first. In the fourth ballot Adams county led off with her solid eleven votes for Post; she had previously given 5 to Beese and 6 to Cobb, a number of other changes indicating the end of the contest in favor of the candidate from Columbus. The reading of the vote which secured the nomination was the signal for prolonged applause. Wheedon of Lancaster moved that the nomination be made unanimous, which was seconded by every county who had a candidate in the field.

Major of Omaha and Abbot of St. Paul were appointed to inform the judge of his nomination and escort him to the hall. The committee retired, and the convention proceeded to the nomination of regents of the state university and the names of Marple and Shumway had been presented and a delegate was on the floor to make another nomination. At this juncture JUDGE POST APPEARED, and as the convention called clamorously for him took the stage. He made a happy speech saying that the office had not been sought by him and he feared had not been deserved; that he had hoped when he came to Lincoln to-day that he would have had the pleasure of witnessing the nomination of a willard soldier and incorruptible judge or his long time friend Judge Beese; but his only ambition had been to succeed himself as judge of the district in which he lived, and where he had served as judge for nine years. He said that the platform of a judge should be the constitution and laws of the state and his solemn oath of office. Judge Post then spoke eloquently of the duties of the office and paid a fine tribute to both of his opponents, Judge Broady and Mr. Edgerton, not, however, calling them by name. He said that if he should have to preside before his successful opponent, he would have no cause to blush at the memory of the campaign, and he asked that the campaign should be such that he would have no reason to blush for the party which had nominated him. The speech was the polished and unimpaired one of the judge rather than the haranguish of the politician and the tumultuous applause of the convention would not have been as expressive as the quiet which greeted his speech, the like of which had no seldom been heard in a political convention. After the judge's speech Charles Allen of Saunders was offered to the convention for regent. The voting then took place, resulting: Marple, 414; Shumway, 397; Gibbon, 238; Allen, 97. Marple and Shumway were declared the nominees. Both are said to be well qualified for the position. Dr. S. D. Mercer of Omaha was selected as chairman of the state central committee, with a committeeman from each district, the member from the Twelfth being W. A. McAllister of Columbus.

JUDGE A. M. POST OF COLUMBUS, was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, in 1845. He was educated at the University at Athens, O., leaving there, owing to ill health, in his senior year. He removed to Iowa in 1871, settling in Bloomfield, where he practiced law until 1874. He then received an appointment in the foreign service, first acting as consul at Santiago and later with a traveling commission. He resigned in the latter part of 1876 and settled in Columbus, becoming a member of the legal firm, Whitmore, Gerrard & Post. In 1883, he was appointed judge of the district, comprising Saunders, Butler, Dodge, Colfax, Platt, Morrill and Nance counties. In the fall of the same year he was elected to the same position, and in 1887 was re-elected, in each case by a good majority, and in the last instance by a plurality of 1,400.

At the last session of the legislature the district in which Judge Post officiates was reduced in size by the cutting of the counties of Saunders and Butler, yet the two judges who formerly presided were allowed to remain. Judge Post's confere being Judge Marshall of Fremont. The commendations of Judge Post are universal by the press of the state. He has the ability to make as good a judge as Nebraska has ever had on the bench. As the campaign goes along, we will have more to say.

With our latest advices as to the situation, the election of Judge Post we regard as assured.

Democratic Convention of the Sixth Judicial District. Of course there is fun ahead. Let's go to the court house was smacked on the corners as the delegates were pushing through the heat and dust to the grand pavilion that was ripening in the breasts of the untortured democrats, who sniffed suspiciously, as they journeyed on their pilgrimage to the shades of certain immolation and defeat. The harmony and peace that predominated in the republican convention, that was in session, simultaneously with our democratic neighbors was in marked contrast to the turbulent uproar that prevailed during the early part of the session, the catcalls and yells that greeted the ears of the lambs incarcerated in the jail during some of the speeches of the delegates. They were only pacified when assured there were no delegates from Nance county, that all the delegates made by delegates from the counties east of us.

The thankful, doubtful honors thrust upon C. Holleben, of Dodge, and of which he was distressingly made aware, are best understood by the unnumbered "ifs" preceding his utterances. "If he were elected, it would be his aim to satisfy those who had cases before him." Compare these admissions with the many utterances of the republican nominees. After the steam had blown off and the lubricating oil soap of Brown, of Merrick, and Williams, of Dodge, had been rubbed in, the old machine, after a few more untidy jerks, nominated John J. Sullivan, of Platt, and C. Holleben, of Dodge, who were unanimously accepted by one grand voteless about, and will prove itself to be the speediest thrope that precedes the dissolution of Judge Holleben's ambition. To Judge Sullivan we say: "Requiescat in pace among your books, so congenial to your nature."

The seventy-second anniversary of the Independent order of Oddfellows was celebrated last week at St. Louis, by the sovereign grand lodge of the order. The growing popularity of this order as an institution of paternal brotherhood is evidenced by the largest gathering of the order ever assembled before in its history. The program gotten up by the St. Louis Oddfellows is said to have been one of the most elaborate ever attempted on a like occasion. The discipline brought into requisition was admirable and complete, for a successful handling of the vast throngs coming together from all parts of the United States to 50,000 Oddfellows including their families and friends. The costumes of patriarchy militant, in their handsome uniforms, comprising divisions from twenty-one states, presented a sight that even St. Louis, with her display of the "veiled prophet," never witnessed such a magnificent pageant as that presented by the grand lodge of the sovereign grand lodge of Oddfellows at its session held in St. Louis, commencing September 21st and continuing through the week adjourning on the 27th to hold its next meeting in 1892 at Portland Oregon. Grand sire Chas. M. Busbee, was prevented from presiding over this growing order, by reason of a serious illness, the duties falling upon Dr. C. F. Campbell of Canada, deputy grand sire. The reports of the grand officers show the wonderful gains in membership during the past year, net increase in the United States and Canada being 67,000, of which there were 60,000 initiated making a total membership of 620,292, the revenue for 1890-'91 was $7,244,297, the pecuniary benevolent distributions for the same period were over $4,000,000. The Rebekah lodge, now numbers 122,000 lodges. Grand lodges have been instituted in Cuba, Japan and Indian territory during the past year.

In taking a retrospect of the death of ex-president Grover, the long-time head of the French republic, we are reminded of a number of things worthy of thought. His elevation was due to his courage, ability and fortuitous circumstances, his fall the result of advancing unwarlike relatives in office who indulged in such channels corruption in their off-cial position that practically compelled him to resign. His proud position as president of the French republic; not because any corruption was traceable to himself, but to his subordinates and favorites, thus a useful man was lost to public life because he could not say no when it was necessary and right. Many great men have gone down to their graves unhonored and unwept bearing the infamy that belonged exclusively to others, often their relatives and friends, whom they have advanced in opposition to their own judgment. The lesson is fraught with wisdom, men in public positions and important trusts should be free from entanglements, which has not the least hint of the bondage which accompanies partiality, favoritism and nepotism. The French journals intimated that ex-president Grover died from shame and mortification in his retirement. "Every man builds his own monument."

NEBRASKA NOTES. F. W. Brass of Omaha and Miss Etta G. daughter of Elder J. E. Moore of Grand Island, were married at the latter place last Wednesday. The Colfax county farmers who are raising tobacco this year are having very good success with it. It has had a luxuriant growth and is about ready to be harvested. One of Omaha's teachers suggests that the teachers can best educate the community to the duty of patronizing home industry. Nebraska has a place in the course of study and the industries of the home city could be greatly aided without particularizing individual firms.

The colored people of Omaha celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of emancipation day last Tuesday evening. The time was spent in speeches, full of true, patriotic devotion to the memory of the martyred Lincoln, a sociable, and dancing with the gusto for which the colored people are celebrated. The Keeley institute at Blair are having good success that they have bought lots and propose erecting a fine building. This is the institution where those afflicted with the drink habit, opium eating and use of cigarettes are cured and made free from the desire to use what has become to them poisonous.

Charles King, a Swede 42 years old, attempted to commit suicide Friday night at Nebraska City by cutting his throat with a razor. The gash was fully six inches long and an inch deep. It is possible he might live. He had during the day drank considerable alcohol, and had a fight; besides, a woman had jilted him. A. Hastie, a stock dealer of Elsonwood, Cass county, was arrested last week on the charge of violating the postal laws in attempting to re-use a postal card. He erased the address and the contents on the back, and used it again. The penalty for such a violation is at least six months imprisonment or a fine of at least $100, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Washington Letter. (From our regular correspondent.) The president's first week at home has been an extraordinarily busy one and notwithstanding the time given up to those who "just called to pay my respects" a good deal has been accomplished. The first important appointment made was that of State Senator Hendricks to be collector of the port of New York in place of Mr. Fassett who resigned to accept the nomination for governor; the next important thing done was the issuing of the proclamation opening the Oklahoma Indian lands to settlement, and Saturday afternoon the vacancy on the bench of the U. S. district court for the northern district of California was filled by the appointment of ex-representative W. W. Morrow of California, an appointment that was particularly pleasing to court republicans in Washington. He has also made a number of minor appointments. Ex-Senator Ingalls is in town, having come here to place his daughter in one of Washington's excellent schools. He is looking well and says that he never felt better. He calls the recent story published by sensational newspapers about his being heart-broken because of his defeat for the senate "lilly rot." He is too honest a man to deny being disappointed by his defeat, but he has lost no time repining over it since it was accomplished, indeed he has had no time to devote to such foolishness. A significant feature of the speakership fight is that the speech of ex Representative Mills, delivered at Mansfield, Ohio, on Saturday, was published in its entirety, although it made five long columns of newspaper, by a Washington Sunday paper which is friendly towards his speakership candidacy. The speech is regarded here as more of an appeal to democratic representatives to vote for Mills for speaker than an appeal to the voters of Ohio to support Campbell for governor. The most remarkable portion of the speech is that treating of the silver question. While claiming to be in the free coinage of silver he enters into an elaborate argument against the enactment of the free coinage law. The rest of the three hour speech might have been taken from a collection of his free trade speeches in the house.

Ex-Speaker Reed is in Washington looking in the best condition, and apparently feeling just as jolly as though he were to be speaker of the house for the next two years instead of leader of the minority. Mr. Reed does not believe that the democrats will succeed in accomplishing anything in the house during the coming session, notwithstanding their tremendous majority. In fact that big majority is likely to prove a curse to the party, owing to the difficulty of controlling it. Already it is apparent that the speakership fight will leave wounds that cannot be healed during the life of the house.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Paletia. Mrs. Guiles has nearly recovered from the effects of the fall she had from the wheel running off the wagon two weeks ago. The wheel ran off Mr. Berndt's wagon, letting Charlie out onto the ground and frightening the rest of the family, who were all in the wagon. Mr. John Anderson has a sister and family from Stenning visiting here. Mr. McWhitt has commenced working on a farm at his factory. Herman Berndt has bought 80 acres of the James farm. Mr. Justin Abrahamson has rented his farm, but does not give possession till March, then they will move to St. Edward. John Abrahamson has rented his farm to Mr. Sleeter and gives possession in November; then he will move his family there, too. He has been in Crouch's elevator for several weeks. Quite a number attended the reunion from here. Mr. and Mrs. Rolf, Mr. and Mrs. Hancock, Mr. Nels Peterson and Miss Gertrude Jones are attending the Baptist association at Battle Creek this week.

Danias. The hay crop is good, the most of it is in the stack now. Business is business. St. Paul has an ice palace, Sioux City has a corn palace, Grand Island has a sugar-belt palace and Duncan is figuring on a cornfodder palace. The latest novelty of our town is an advertising post, red-hot metal in what the people want, and they can't get it at their feet, in front of the postoffice. Chris Wuestrich shot and killed a bird commonly called fish hawk, that was five feet long, and measuring four feet and 2 inches from tip to tip of the wings.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry is the only line running solid vestibuled, electric lighted and steam heated trains between the Missouri river and Chicago, consisting of new palace sleepers, elegant first reclining chair cars, luxurious coaches and the best dining cars in the world. The finest reading lamp in its place sleeping cars is patented and cannot be used by any other railway company. It is the great improvement of the age. Try it and be convinced. Agt., 2566th Omaha, Neb.

MR. THOMAS BATTER, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by C. E. Pollock & Co. and Dr. Heintz, druggists."

A Wonder Worker. Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, O., states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and that their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found before he had used half of a bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is today enjoying good health. If you have any throat, chest or lung trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at Stillman's drug store.

There is little doubt but that many persons suffer for years with ailments that could easily be cured by the use of one simple remedy. The following incident is illustration of this fact: My wife was troubled with a pain in her side the greater part of the time for three years, until cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I have, I think, permanently cured her. We also have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy whenever needed and believe it to be the best in the world. P. M. BORSON, Pennville, Sullivan Co., Missouri. For sale by C. E. Pollock & Co. and Dr. Heintz, druggists.

Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effects upon their children. Dr. G. C. Osceola, Lowell, Mass. "Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the good effects of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves." Dr. J. F. Kenney, Chicago, Ill.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any preparation known to me. H. A. ANSON, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their constant practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it." UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
